

Will Holcomb

Author | Playwright | Speaker

Author and award-winning playwright Will Holcomb approaches difficult topics with humor, heart, and honesty. As a public speaker, Will is approachable and funny (though his wife remains unconvinced on that last point). He doesn't pontificate or preach; he tells stories on topics that make people laugh, think, and see the world differently.

The Infinite Jeff series

What readers are saying:

"For 25 years, The Alchemist was my all-time favorite book. Now I have a new one." – Deanna McArdle

"Best of its genre since Richard Bach's Illusions." – Jeff Olen

"The most thought provoking book I've read in many years. A one-of-a-kind reading pleasure." – Goodreads Reviewer

A four-part philosophical fiction series that tackles life's big questions yet reads like a page-turner.

Produced plays

Clinically Un-Depressed – A dramatic comedy exploring how lives transform when we simply react differently to others. "In 14 seasons, Clinically Un-Depressed is the only play we've ever done twice. It is the play the world needs right now." – John Daniels Jr., Director, Playhouse Smithville

The Puzzler – A two-person play about an unlikely friendship that pieces together the puzzle of life. Winner, Audience Acclaim Award – TexFest 2023

"Being in The Puzzler and playing the role of Weldon is one of my greatest theater moments. Both taught me so much about myself." – Jack Lewis, Actor
